Wants To Be Assured of Vital
Replenishment of Food
Supply in Case of War

FEARS U. S. EMBARGO

In Actual Effect the Neutrality
Act Has Become A Dead Letter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(INS)—Great Britain has asked assurances of the United States that, in the event of war with Germany, America's vast resources will remain open to her for vital replenishment of food supplies, munitions, guns and planes, it was reliably reported today.

One of Britain's major worries in the present tense crisis over Germany's threatened invasion of Czechoslovakia, it was learned, is that, should England be drawn in, the United States would instantly clamp down an embargo on war supplies under the neutrality act. This crucial question is said to be one of the major considerations in the behind-the-scenes negotiations that is flocking completion of the Anglo-American trade pact.

While the final decision on invocation of the neutrality act rests solely within the discretion of President Roosevelt, it was pointed out that, in effect, the neutrality act has become a dead letter. Observers pointed to the situation in regard to the Sino-Japanese conflict, now well into its second year.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(INS)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today anxiously awaited a reply from President Roosevelt on whether Britain once again could count on American support in the event of a general European war.

At the same time, the hard-pressed British government, seeking desperately to prevent any such conflict, formulated a new plan for settlement of the dangerous Sudeten-Czech autonomy dispute—for use only if all current peace moves fail.

Chamberlain, it was learned, asked specifically what the attitude of the United States would be should Britain become involved in a war with Germany.

Seascout Ship "Elks"

Is Showing Progress

The Seascout Ship "Elks" has been actively engaged the past few weeks in the study of water safety and the methods of life-saving. Ten of the seascouts hold the senior life-saving badge of the American Red Cross, and the remainder of the ship is desirous of obtaining this goal.

In spite of the fact that they no longer have a regular meeting place, the ship has been progressing smoothly. There are several new members participating in the activities and there seems to be a continued advance in the morale of the group.

Various members are striving to pass the examinations required to advance them to a higher rank, and officers of the ship feel confident that the group will make a good showing at the Seascout Ball in November.

NEW DEAL PONDS OVER RECENT DEFEAT

Wonders What To Do About Victory of Smith and Defeat of McAdoo

IS A SEVERE SETBACK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The New Deal high command in pondering what to do about the victory of the veteran Senator Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith, returned to the Senate despite two public appeals from President Roosevelt for Smith's defeat.

Likewise there was bewilderment because of the defeat of Senator William Gibbs McAdoo in California after Mr. Roosevelt had made a public appeal for his renomination and re-election.

It was realized that the events of Tuesday plus the outcome of other primaries within the next few weeks will have much to do with the New Deal's prospects for continuing control of Congress until 1940—or, perhaps, beyond that date.

The results cannot be construed as anything other than a stinging blow at Mr. Roosevelt's personal prestige. The Democrats of two States have turned down his personal appeals. In one case refusing to re-elect a New Deal sitting Senator and in the other re-nominating an anti-New Dealer.

There was a general realization that Mr. Roosevelt faces a situation which calls for the exercise of unusual political skill if he is to avoid irreparable damage to his personal political fortunes and to those of the Democratic Party.

A potential trouble-making factor of not inconsiderable proportions is the fact that when he invaded South Carolina, to ask for the defeat of Smith, and Georgia, to call for the elimination of Senator Walter F. George, the President disregarded the advice of some of his ablest political lieutenants.

Now that he has lost in South Carolina, and, in the opinion of many here, is scheduled to lose in Georgia, those dissenters are in a position to say "I told you so."

That is a situation which never makes for peace and effective co-operation in any party. In the present instance, with a growing schism already precipitated by uncertainty as to whether or not Mr. Roosevelt will seek a third term, its trouble-making potentialities are increased.

There was some disposition, with administration encouragement, to discount the results of the South Carolina primary; due to the last minute withdrawal of State Senator Edgar Brown and the consequent disruption of the President's reported plan to make a personal appeal against Smith in South Carolina during the anticipated run-off primary which Brown's withdrawal made impossible.

However, the fact remained that on two occasions—first at Greenville, S. C., and later at Hyde Park, Mr. Roosevelt had made it clear to the Democrats of South Carolina that he wanted Smith defeated, and Smith was renominated.

Practice Casting

By "The Stroller"

Two local fishermen were seen the other evening diligently practicing casting in their own back yards in the sixth ward.

With fishing rod, line and reel the followers of "Ike" Walton went about their job with an earnestness that was marked and plainly visible upon their countenances.

Taking the proper stance the "fishermen" with gracefulness and dexterity cast time after time at a given objective. Evidently endeavoring to improve their marksmanship and ability to cast into the briny deep so that they would be the better able to hook members of the finny tribe.

"Air Defense Exercises" In Berlin

Berlin, Sept. 1.—Nervous Berliners, very jittery over possibility of war, had a new scare today when anti-aircraft guns were suddenly mounted at strategic points in the capital. Inquiries as to whether this step represented a precautionary measure were met with the explanation that "air defense exercises will take place today and tomorrow."

Plan Three Months' Truce

Prague, Sept. 1.—Plans for a three months' truce in the Sudeten autonomy controversy, to be followed by eventual big-power adjudication of Germany's demands, were revealed today by the Czechoslovakian government. As publication of Prague's latest compromise proposal for settlement of the crisis was proposed because of fear "premature release by prejudice, the decision of Sudeten party leaders' official quarters made known their hope the problem might be solved by gradual methods.

Pa. Cities Now 'On Defensive' Industrially

Reading, Sept. 1.—Pennsylvania cities "bent on industrial promotion are now on the defensive" because of "excessive taxation," Dr. Leonard Fox, research manager of the State's Chamber of Commerce, charged today, in an address before the League of Cities of the third class.

"Whatever happens to industry as a whole in Pennsylvania is of vital concern to every city in the State," declared Dr. Fox in urging the city officials to make "industrial inventory" of their communities. He advised the audience to "let the people know what can and should be done to protect and promote private employment in a community."

STATE HAS 1,112 MILES OF SUPER-HIGHWAYS

All of Them Are of More Than Two Lanes
In Width

IS SECOND TO NEW YORK

By Roy E. Brownmiller

Secretary of Highways

HARRISBURG, Sept. 1.—Pennsylvania has more miles of improved State highways exceeding two-lane widths than all of the other states except one—New York.

The mileage of three, four and six lane highways in this state now totals 1,112. Of this total, about 137 miles were built during the past fiscal year.

These figures, while well known to highway engineers and officials, will come as an interesting revelation to some Pennsylvania motorists who have accused us of being tardy in entering the field of building routes that will accommodate more than two lanes of travel.

One reason why some Pennsylvanians may believe some other particular state is far in the front in mileage of three and four lane routes is that they probably confine their travels in that state to the main highways and only see the multiple lanes. On the other hand, the wider highways in Pennsylvania are scattered over a great area and thus are not immediately encountered during a short drive.

Pennsylvania's mileage of three, four and six lane highways is more than twice the total of a neighboring state which has come in for much editorial acclaim about its number of miles of highways exceeding two lanes. Furthermore, that state has less than 1700 miles on its state system; we have 49,600 miles. Two counties in Pennsylvania alone have more miles of state highways than has the entire state used for comparison.

It can readily be seen that when a state has only a comparatively small number of miles on its state system that the cost of maintenance is proportionately small and the bulk of its motor fund receipts may be used for construction of wide, high-type highways.

But such is not the case in Pennsylvania. In addition to maintaining our huge state highway system, we are charged with the upkeep of some 44,000 miles of second class township roads. The remaining funds then are available for construction of not only wider pavements on main highways but also for improving and rebuilding our system of farm-to-market roads.

Then, too, the state's natural topography is an important factor to be considered in the cost of highway building. Many states do not have our towering mountains that must be cut down

Another Industry To Move To The South

Pennsylvania will lose another industrial plant to the South next Wednesday when the Oscar Nable Hosiery Mill, at Hathoro, suspends operations.

Tuesday will be the last day of operation, Harry E. Schoenhut, president of the company, said last night. After that 400 hosiery workers will be out of jobs.

The firm has mills at Winchester and Staunton, Va., and a dyeing plant at Verona, Va., completed six weeks ago.

The national agreement with the American Federation of Hosiery Workers under which the Nable mill operated expired last night, and the company and the union have been unable to come to terms satisfactory to the owners.

"We told the union 45 days ago," Schoenhut said, "that it was impossible for us to continue as it was, and that in order for us to show a profit we would have to have a cut in wages so drastic they would resent it."

Only with a 40 per cent. reduction in wages, Schoenhut said, could the plant continue operations in Hathoro. He declared that the firm could not compete in the New York market and continue to pay union rates, because other Bucks county factories were paying lower scales.

He said he had rejected a union proposal for a 17 per cent. rate reduction if the plant would buy at least 10 new machines costing $11,000 each, because the money was not available.

"I told them if they had made that offer in January, 1937, when they negotiated the current contract," he said, "we would not have built our mill in Staunton."

The termination of the national hosiery agreement in favor of individual contracts was a step decided on by union and owner representatives recently as a step to combat Southern competition.

NEW FALL WOOLENS APPEAL TO ALL AS TEMPERATURE COOLS

By Edna Stephany
(Home Economics Representative)

Can you imagine being interested in choosing a fall wool suit or coat these warm days? Perhaps not, but the professionals in fashions were busy as early as July 4 with the openings of fall fabrics and fashions. Now, after six weeks time, they are appearing in the stores.

The theme for the new materials is surface interest. Surface interest is obtained by weaves, textures, or quality of the different threads used.

Do you remember frieze which was popular in upholstery fabrics for so long? It had a curly finish. In the new wooleens this curl may be so fine and tight it resembles needlepoint, or it may be loose like a large French knot. This frieze surface may be an all-over pattern or it may be a matter of stripes or squares.

A variety in texture which gives an inconspicuous pattern effect is obtained by combining different fibers such as wool and mohair. Mohair is a smoother, more glossy fiber than wool and in this way a bright and dull texture is obtained.

And what are the new colors? The answer—dark, rich shades of green, wine, and plum. Of course, black is always the favorite foundation color. Browns range from rust to the very darkest shade; bronze is a combination of brown and green. The reds range from the bright, dark, clear red to the wine shades. Smoky blues and gray also are good colors.

Plaids, stripes, checks and the nubby surfaces show combinations of two or more of these rich colors. A jacket and skirt may show a contrast of plain and patterned fabric.

Black, or these dark, rich colors woven with gold and silver threads make some of the richer fabrics.

GIVES POINTERS FOR ARRANGING FLOWERS FOR FLORAL SHOWS

By Miss Edna Stephany

(Home Economics Representative)
Many Bucks County gardeners are tenderly coaxing their flowers into condition for the fall flower shows. The next step will be that of selecting good blooms for these exhibits. Following is a list of points judges look for in specimen exhibits:

Annuals: Large size, uniform; shape good; fresh; uniform coloring; long sized stems, uniform in length; foliage free from insect, disease, or mechanical injury.

Antirrhinums (Snapdragons): Large number of perfect, open flowers arranged on large straight spike. Rich color, broad full lip; regular markings. Flowers close together.

Asters: Regular; good size, uniform. Brilliance and uniformity of color. Long stems.

Quilled types—florets regularly arranged.

Comet and Plumed types—large size.

Dahlias: Ball, show, and fancy types—good size, rounded form, full center; color highly developed; regularity of florets. Petals unfaded.

Cactus types—florets pointed and radiating or clawed and incurved according to variety.

Single types—well-defined disk and regularity of coloring.

Pompon varieties—lack of coarseness and extremely regular.

Delphinium: Large well-branched spikes; flowers well-furnished, large expanded flowers on spikes. Flowers should not be drooping, color uniform.

Gladiolus: Flowers large and shapely on well-proportioned, straight, long spike. Flowers set closely together; fresh and large number of flowers approximating two-thirds the total number of flowers plus buds; i. e., if total number of flowers plus buds equals 15, ten or more flowers should be present.

Hardy Flowers: Flowers should be large, fresh, and gracefully arranged on spike, stem or stalk. Seed pods should be absent. In collections types should be same.

Hollyhocks: Large blooms, fresh, clear of color; spikes long with expanded flowers; flowers placed regularly, close together.

The most common faults in flower arrangements are:

1. Spotty effect—light and dark or bright and dull distributed all through and not massed or well grouped.
2. Too many centers of interest.
3. Crowded or flowers hidden by a "filler."
4. Bad proportion in height, width and size of flower and container.
5. Too regular spacing of flowers and stems, straight line, parallel or in steps.

6. Falling apart in center or other voids.
7. Vase too ornate or conspicuous.
8. Lack of interesting design.
9. Poor color combinations, monotonous color or too violent coloring.
10. Crossing of stems.
11. Lacks stability and focal point.
12. Monotony of flower forms.

11-YEAR-OLD MOTHER

VIENNA — (INS) — A son has been born to 11-year-old Sylvia and 16-year-old Johann Horvath, Burgenland gypsies, probably the youngest parents in Europe. She gave birth to her baby in a gypsy-carriage in the vicinity of Eisenstadt.

COTTON EXPORTS DROP

RIO DE JANEIRO—Brazil registered a decline in the exports of cotton for the first four months of this year compared to the same period in 1937. Total exports for the four months, January to April of this year aggregated 47,299 tons compared with 49,303 tons for the corresponding period last year, a decline of 2,104 tons.

THE AVERAGE MOVIE-GOER SPEAKS HIS MIND...

IT'S HARD for a fellow like me who thinks apple pie is one of nature's greatest gifts to man to believe that there are folks who honestly don't like it at all.

On the other hand, I can't abide liver and bacon — though I know it's highly regarded by many.

We all have our likes and our dislikes. We're all different — thanks be! A dull world it would be if we weren't.

That's why I say that the most remarkable thing about motion pictures is that they hit such a high average of pleasure-giving.

Take any individual picture and you'll find that most people who see it will get a lot of enjoyment out of it.

Not all, naturally. For example, I think a certain star is tops — while, to hear the way my next-door neighbor goes on about her, you'd think she wasn't good enough to be an "extra".

Or my wife sees a picture during the afternoon and raves about it at dinner. Maybe son and I take it in that evening — and come home feeling that Mother is losing her judgment. And there you are. It's the apple pie situation all over again.

But, taking them all together, I figure that the "movies" give more pleasure to more people at a lot less cost than most anything the mind of man was ever responsible for — and have done the human race more downright good than all the medicines concocted since creation.

And I'll say this: The times when I've been disappointed in a picture have been a lot fewer than the other times when I've gone to see one I wasn't especially excited about in advance and been mighty glad I did.

Sure, I criticize the pictures. I pay my money and that's my right. As a matter of fact, I kind of figure that it's the criticism of average folks like me that's largely responsible for the pictures getting better and better all the time.

FRIDAY: "LAW OF THE UNDERWORLD" co-starring Carole Lombard and Fredric March, and directed by William A. Wellman, will be the first color picture in screen history to utilize newly-invented special equipment which makes possible unusual photography.

Devised by Jack Cosgrove, the color process printer, as it is known technically, makes possible the showing on the screen of several different scenes simultaneously. Trick photography of all kinds is now also available to the technicolor cameras, through the invention.

It took a year's research work, and an expenditure of more than $4000 for experimental purposes, under studio subsidy, to bring the device to perfection. Film engineers have been striving for years to achieve this result.

GRAND

Bubbling with the humor and naturalness that made the original Karle Douglas Wiggin story one of the best-sellers of its day, the film version of "Mother Carey's Chickens" opens today at the Grand Theatre.

Closely following the book, the film deals with the interesting careers of the Careys. The head of the family, a naval officer, dies during the war with Spain, and his wife and four children, left penniless save for a scanty pension, try to carry on as their father would have wished.

Through the efforts of a young school teacher who is in love with the older daughter, the Careys leave the tenement in which they are living and take over an old, tumble-down house in the country. They remodel it as a teachers' boarding house, but unforeseen complications arise just as they complete the task. The climax is charged with hilarity as the family adopts a unique method of disposing of an unpleasant couple who claim their house.

Against this background are played interlocking romances between the two daughters and their respective admirers, all thoroughly steeped in the colorful atmosphere of the late nineties and enriched with Miss Wiggin's sparkling comedy.

to reduce grades, the valleys and ravines that must be bridged, the curves that must be straightened. Such savings in construction can be applied to building of more miles of highways.

Our difficulties with natural barriers can be illustrated in a new highway recently opened on State Route 14, across the Susquehanna River from Harrisburg. Here, for a project that provided two and a half miles of three-lane, dual type pavement and an overpass, we spent almost $700,000. That sum spent on a project that only involved laying new surface, two, three, or four lanes.

would have enabled us to build many more miles of highway had we not shown proper regard for correction of dangerous hazards along the way.

Four-lane highways with opposing streams of traffic separated by planted strips are highly desirable objectives in Pennsylvania's road building program. They have been built—and will continue to be built—on the basis of traffic requirements and availability of funds. Just last week we awarded a contract totaling almost $839,000 for construction of a four-mile, four-lane divided stretch on the Lincoln Highway in Westmoreland County. This project will complete the last link in the four lanes of travel all the way from Greensburg to Pittsburgh, a distance of 31 miles. Another such outstanding improvement has been used by traffic for sometime on the Lincoln Highway at Malvern, west of Philadelphia.

Ready To Receive Protests and Criticism

Pennsylvania Department of Highways has applied for War Department approval of plans of a highway bridge across Nesheaminy Creek on Route 09001 between Bensalem and Bristol Townships, Bucks County, Pennsylvania.

"The plans, which may be seen at this office, provide for a fixed bridge of three spans, each with a horizontal clearance of 99 feet 11 inches, and a vertical clearance of 8.5 feet above mean high water under the center span. The plans show the proposed bridge replacing an existing bridge at the same locality having a vertical clearance of 9.5 feet above mean high water.

"The decision as to whether or not the plans will be approved must rest primarily upon the effect of the proposed work on navigation. Any criticism or protest regarding the plans should be submitted to this office prior to September 9, 1938, as it is desired to act on the application on that date."

LEO HIBBS WINS BATTING CROWN IN TWILIGHT GROUP

Player Stepped To Plate 73
Times in 26 Games During Season

HIS AVERAGE WAS .384

Made 28 Safe Hits, Including
9 Doubles, 3 Triples and
1 Home-Run

With a batting average of .384, Leo Hibbs, outfielder of the Odd Fellows, won the batting crown of the Bristol Twilight League for the 1938 season. Leo stepped to the plate 73 times in 26 games and delivered a total of 28 safe blows. Twenty-five was the number of games set by the officials of the league to determine the championship.

With Hibbs' 28 safe knocks were nine doubles, three triples, and a home run. Joe Roe, Superior Zinc first-sacker, was second in batting with an average of .359. Third place went to Bunny Brunner, Rohm & Haas, who batted .347.

Brunner played in 34 games and went to bat 101 times. He made 38 safe hits, to have the highest number of hits in the circuit. Sid Purcell, Odd Fellows, was third in the number of hits with 29. John Dougherty, catcher of Rohm & Haas, had 32 hits and finished with an average of .320. Jimmy Massilla, Rohm & Haas, played in 25 games and ended with .332.

Many players had higher averages than some of the leaders but did not play the required number of games.

The Odd Fellows, who finished second in the second half, led the league in batting with an average of .281, getting 214 hits in 761 times at bat. Superior Zinc, despite their poor showing, had a .268 batting average, having 191 hits in 712 times at the plate. Rohm & Haas was third with .263, 227 hits in 863 times up. Fourth went to Grundy's with .248, having 163 hits in 656 times at bat. St. Ann's, first half champions, had a low batting average of .240, making but 167 hits in 686 trips to the plate.

The players' averages as tabulated by President Thomas M. Juno are as follows:

Player and Team	G.	A.B.	H.	Ave.
Ashby, R. & H.	6	6	4	.667
Black, R. & H.	6	6	4	.667
Brack, Superior	15	2	7	.467

LANDRETH LOSES TO KENSINGTON, 5 TO 2

At D and Tioga streets, Philadelphia, last evening, Kensington defeated Landreth in an abbreviated game of 5½ innings by the score of 5-2. The game was played under very poor conditions. It was dark when the game started and very dark after the fourth inning. The fielding feature was a one-handed catch in deep center by Rockhill. The best hitting was done by Cummings, the Kensington center fielder, who hit two doubles. Black was on the mound for the Farmers and while he was touched for six hits, including three doubles and a triple, in five innings his support was very ragged.

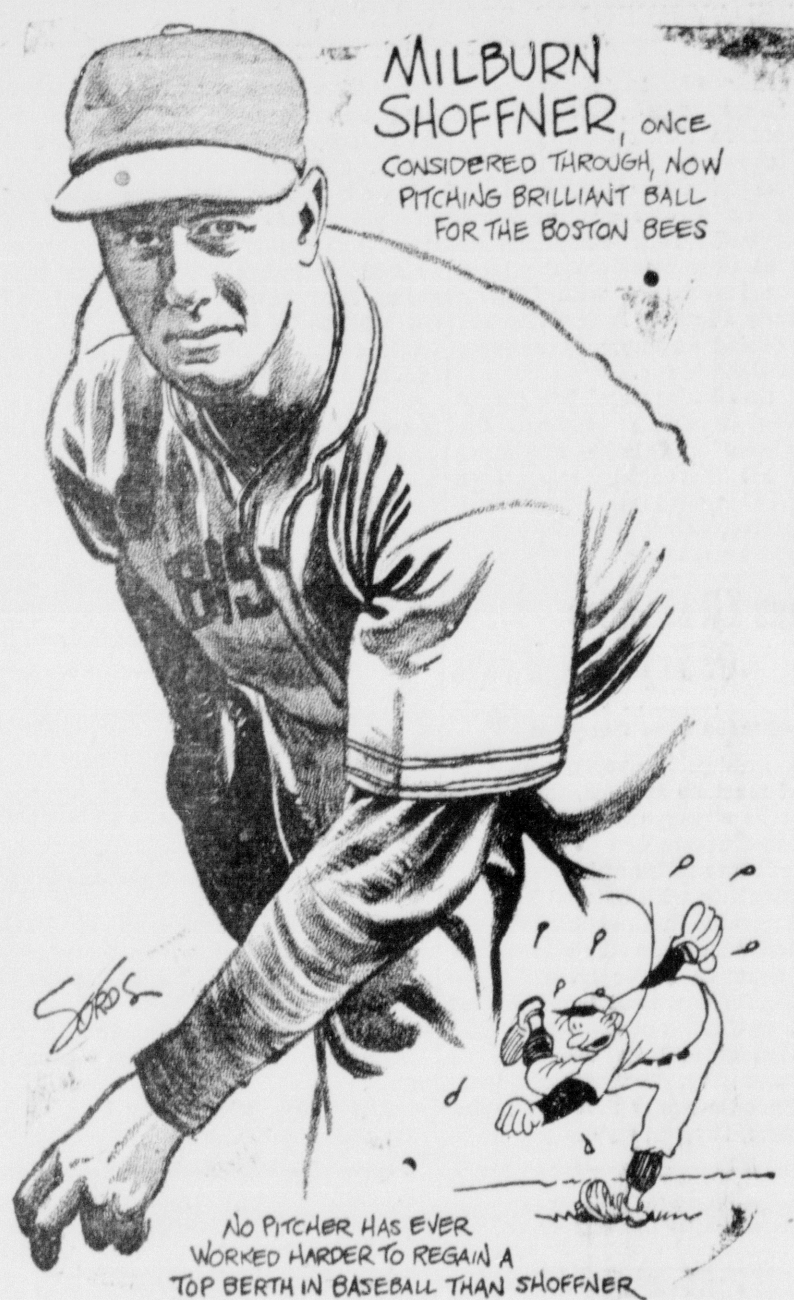

Bill Erb, a Kensington lefthander, had Landreth eating out of his hand setting eleven batters down on strikes. His best pitching feat was in the third inning when, with three on base and no one out, he got Lodge on a play to the plate and struck out Harwi and Griggs.

Next Sunday Landreth's Seeds will be at home. Game commences at 3 p. m.

James, Republican candidate for governor, and United States Senator James J. Davis, seeking reelection, and their running mates for Lieutenant Governor and internal affairs secretary, were the prominent speakers.
